

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC AND ENVIRONMENTAL AFFAIRS EXECUTIVE EDUCATION

Announcing...

National Advanced Transportation Leadership Institute (NATLI) Washington, D.C. April 8-11, 2019

The NATLI

Sponsored by AASHTO to complement the National Transportation Leadership Institute (NTLI), and consistent with its mission to be a catalyst for organizational and technical excellence, the National Advanced Transportation Leadership Institute (NATLI) is dedicated to the development of a cadre of executive-ready senior managers to fill executive positions in the transportation industry.

NATLI Goals

To develop executive equivalent competencies for DOT and FHWA Senior Leaders consistent with the AASHTO Vision.

To provide DOT/FHWA with a pool of executive ready senior managers to fill executive vacancies as they occur.

To supplement the AASHTO National Transportation Leadership Institute for middle managers with an Institute focused on executive level development.

Participant Goals

To develop knowledge and capacity to influence competencies expected of executive DOT and FHWA policymakers.

To bridge the gap between classroom learning and workplace application.

Learning Objectives

- Recognize methods of transportation policy formulation through simulations and analysis.
- Identify policy-related challenges and opportunities through interaction with political leaders and legislative staffers.
- Develop working knowledge of executive leadership competencies through discussions with experienced transportation executives.
- Develop competencies related to strategic knowledge and "capacity to influence" people, events and the organization using applied techniques.
- Identify personal executive level development needs through self-assessment.
- Recognize the opportunity to benefit from mentoring from faculty and senior executives to create a path leading to executive transportation related positions.
